Unknown County Residents Are Moving Monroe Line

MONROE County Chief Assessor George Brands yesterday reported unknown persons have been moving the county line marker on the Signal Depot-Gouldsboro Road, therefore the exact location of the line cannot be determined.

Brands gave this information at their meeting held yesterday in the courthouse when he was questioned on a matter requested by the Lehigh Township School Board secretary.

Mrs. Helen Rhodes, the Wayne County School official, asked Commission Chairman John Lesoine to ascertain the location of the line since, because of a development project in that area, the placing of several children in the right school has become a question.

Do Not Coincide
It was pointed out by Brands that the lines established on the Jacobs Co. maps, made up during the recent reassessment, did not coincide with the marker as presently placed.

"Wherever the deeds are recorded," Brands said, "is where we accept the location of the property."

Brands said deeds from north of the marker were filed in Wayne County, while those from south of the marker are filed in Monroe County.

The land development project which prompted the entire matter is owned by Jacob Seip who is selling lots in both Monroe and Wayne counties.

However, in their review of the cases, the Commissioners determined that the properties in question were not in Monroe County.

Estimated
During the meeting, the Commissioners authorized that an estimate be determined for the repair of various legal ledgers in the office of Register and Recorder Jeanette Batory.

The Canadensis Methodist Church was allowed the exoneration of a building from the tax lists since, it was reported, it was used only for religious purposes, not as a parsonage.

River Study Is Large

By Bob Stewart

MONROE County, with its many large and small tributaries to the Delaware River, and its resort industry which depends upon water to such a large extent, will be one of the most effected areas along the river insofar as the Engineer's Study Plan for the river is concerned.

The river, far from being an endless source of water, will, in too many years, not be able to supply all the water needed to the communities along the basin.

Six major Federal agencies supplied data to the Corps of Engineers for their study—Dept. of Commerce, Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, Dept. of Agriculture, Dept. of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service and the Federal Power Commission.

Corresponding State and local agencies also worked with the Federal groups in compiling the mass of data needed to make a complete study.

Geographically, the Delaware River Basin extends about 265 miles from the Catskills to the Atlantic at the mouth of Delaware Bay.

Center of the basin is about at Easton, while the land area served is 12,765 square miles, the major portion being in Pennsylvania.

The river basin presently supplies 3.5 billion gallons of water each day, or a flow of 5,400 cubic feet per second, to homes, offices, farms, factories, irrigated land and other uses.

About 3.4 billion gallons per day, or 5,250 cfs are supplied for cooling purposes at steam generating plants.

Another 0.5 billion gallons per day goes to New York City and northern New Jersey.

Additionally, crabs, oysters, and fishermen in the various bays and inlets in the Delaware Bay derive their living from the harvests of seafood.

Almost 100 million tons of goods enter and leave the ports of the river and bay, while the waters further upstream supply many sportsmen with recreation.

The lack of control over the stream, such as was demonstrated during the hurricanes of 1955, plus the added needs of water along the river, were the main reasons for this study.

The needs of the river cannot be gauged for ten or even 20 years, but must be planned ahead for 50 to 100 years.

It has been pointed out that during this latter period in the development of the Delaware River Basin, the population of the basin will more than double, while water needs will grow even more.

Thus, this study will point out the needs of the area, plus giving a concrete plan for meeting these needs.

Next: Needs of the Basin and Water Control.

Yetter Is Main Speaker At West End Rod-Gun Club

REP. VAN D. YETTER, JR., Monroe County Democrat, was the principal speaker at last night's meeting of the West End Rod and Gun Club at the Effort Hotel.

Yetter discussed his efforts to have a bill passed prohibiting spotlighting of deer between 12:30 a.m. and sunset.

He also reported on the fish stocking program in this county and said that the State Fish Commission expects to stock 60,000 fish in 114 miles of open stream here — the largest number ever stocked in this county.

Dr. F. W. Shafer of Stroudsburg discussed the possibility of a Fall meeting with Glenn L. Bowers, chief of the division of research of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, to discuss help for the dwindling Monroe County deer herd during winter months.

The meeting would be similar to one held this past Winter in Canadensis, Arthur Switzgabel, president, was in charge.

Employment Office Man Notes List

JOHN Dougherty, manager of the Stroudsburg Employment office, said yesterday, "The testing problem of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service is a most valuable aid to workers and employers."

Dougherty pointed out that the local office has three types of tests which are available without charge to help workers and employers with job problems.

Tests available are specific aptitude tests, general aptitude tests and proficiency tests. Extensive research has established an accurate relationship between results and job performance.

Tests used by the Employment Service are subject to constant research to improve their reliability. Dougherty said. He added that many colleges and private industries have cooperated in the continuing process to improve the already good relationship between test results and job performance.

Specific aptitude tests available to the employment service include about 225 batteries of tests covering approximately 400 specific occupations.

The General Aptitude Test Battery is a group of 12 aptitude tests which measure potential abilities in many broad occupational groups. Proficiency tests measure the skill or knowledge that a person has acquired in an occupation. Examples of proficiency tests available are those which measure skills in typing, the taking of dictation and spelling.

The specific aptitude tests covering about 400 occupations are especially valuable in helping to select qualified workers for employment, Dougherty said.

The Employment Service specific aptitude tests have been developed to measure the ability of an inexperienced job applicant to learn job duties of the specified occupation.

Dougherty said, "Tests of this nature should be administered only to inexperienced applicants who meet all other requirements of the employer."

The jobs official said that the General Aptitude Test Battery (GATB), a group of 12 aptitude tests, is given as part of the Employment Service Counseling Service to high school graduates who need help in making a vocational choice and to other job applicants who wish to or must change occupations for some reason.

The musical program was supplemented with two tableaux depicting the familiar painting of "Christ in Gethsemane" and the "Last Supper."

The cast of the tableau was composed of members of the Chapter of Rose Croix, Keystone Consistory, Scranton.

Firemen Busy

FIRE companies in Monroe County were busy yesterday fighting fires in different sections of the county.

Barrett Township Fire Company reported three fires for the day. The first call was a grass fire just below the Cresco railroad station. Sparks from the fire fell on the roof of a small building, in the vicinity, and set the roof afire. The damage was slight, a spokesman for the fire company said.

The second call was another grass fire in the Oaklane Park section and was quickly brought under control and extinguished.

The third call for Barrett was a woods fire, between the Cresco station and Sanford Henry crossing along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad.

The firemen remained here until approximately 3:30 p.m. when the fire was declared under control and the Department of Forest and Waters assumed the fight of putting out the fire. The area involved in this fire is about 25 to 50 acres along the D. L. & W. railroad.

Other area fire companies reporting fires were Stroud Township and Pocono Township.

Stroud Township reported a grass fire in the rear of 1540 N. Fifth Street, Stroudsburg. They reported no damage or loss.

Pocono Township was called out at 2:15 p.m. to fight in back of the home of Walter Sebring, Tannersville. The fire was confined to about a quarter of an acre and no loss was reported.

Spokesmen for the three fire companies said that the grass fires were a result of someone burning trash and the wind blew live sparks into the field. They asked the residents to exercise more care, during this time of year, when burning trash.

Residents of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg are reminded of the ordinances governing the hours for burning trash.

Main Defense Line

The first line of defense against mental illness for area residents is the Monroe County Mental Health Assn.

This group recently opened a new office to provide information for persons who are mentally or emotionally upset and for relatives and friends who are concerned about another person.

Reason for opening the office was that members of the board of directors of the association were receiving eight to 10 calls a month from persons seeking information.

In many cases, the directors did not feel qualified to give the answers. And they also felt there should be some place where information on hospitalization, educational programs and other facets of the group's work would be available.

The new office is located at 616 Main St., Stroudsburg, over the E. A. Bell Insurance Co. The telephone number is HAmilton 1-1299. It is currently being staffed by volunteers from various women's organizations.

Plans for an open house for the new office will be announced in the near future.

We hope that everyone in the area will take advantage of this opportunity to visit the office and to learn more about a subject of concern to all of us.

Ike For State Assembly?

President Eisenhower flabbergasted Washington newsmen the other night with an offhand remark at a Republican rally in Washington to the effect that he might run for the Pennsylvania Legislature after he leaves the Presidency and retires to his home at Gettysburg.

The newsmen wondered if he were serious and asked one of his press aides to check. The answer came back that the remark was facetious and that Ike was merely carried away by campaign enthusiasm.

So, we won't get an ex-president as a member of the Pennsylvania General Assembly—which surely would set a precedent.

It's too bad, in a way, for Ike would have a great deal to contribute to the deliberations of the 210-member House of Representatives at Harrisburg, where the Democratic majority is so slender that Republican help is needed to pass some important items of legislation.

And the State House would be able to show Ike a thing or two, despite his long experience in government. He'd see some horse-trading, lobbying, logrolling and legislative high-jinks of a much more bare-handed sort than that practiced in Washington.

If it's true that the lower house of Congress is close to the people, being elected every two years, it's equally true that the lower house of the Legislature is even closer to the people. It includes farmers, miners, attorneys, business men, public payrollers and others of diverse occupations and backgrounds, including some who list their occupations as "legislators." There's even a retired rear admiral to keep Ike company, if he decided to serve.

Ike's home district of Adams County is safely Republican, as far as the legislative post is concerned. His representative is 46-year-old Francis Worley, now serving his eighth term. But if Mr. Worley should tire of the job or go on to higher posts, perhaps Ike could be persuaded to run. After his tours of duty as Supreme Allied commander in Europe, as Army chief of staff, as NATO commander and as President, it would be a new experience for him.

Caveman Courtship—1960

George Sokolsky Says . . .

China Lobby

Alfred Kohlberg was an American merchant who traded with Nationalist China. His specialty was textiles. His business grew to fair dimensions and he joined the various organizations which concerned themselves with Far Eastern affairs.

Among others he joined the Institute of Pacific Relations and found therein something which contradicted his experience. He was not particularly interested in politics and his discoveries surprised him, for he had heretofore respected great names.

He thereupon set out to investigate the Institute of Pacific Relations not knowing especially what he would find. This one event set off a whole series of Congressional investigations including those of the McCarthy Committee and the McCarran Committee.

Kohlberg had stumbled on a truth, which rarely happens to any of us. He found that many public organizations of the American people, private organizations with high-sounding names and headed by distinguished men, were infiltrated by Communists, on the administrative level, who formed each organization's policies and determined its goals. Kohlberg took up the fight and never stopped until he died last week.

Naturally Kohlberg was called many ugly names. These he accepted as labels of distinction, but the one that pleased him most was "China Lobby." He proclaimed himself to be the "China Lobby," and challenged all and sundry to investigate him. I do not know how many thousands of dollars of his own money Kohlberg spent advertising himself as the "China Lobby" and demanding an investigation.

A man of means and integrity, he, of course, would not have accepted a cent from Chiang Kai-shek or Mao Tse-tung or anyone else to support his opinions. He was a man of strong convictions with enough cash on hand to back them up.

A merchant, not a scholar, he was without any interest in the sectarian attitudes of the various anti-Communists. He was really not so much a doctrinaire anti-Communist as he was pro-American.

He did not split the fine hairs of definitions; it was sufficient for him that he had witnessed what the Communists did to China and he did not want them to do the same to the United States. For Kohlberg, it was sufficient that he regarded the Communists as indecent and profane.

A Jew, he organized the American Jewish League Against Communism. He insisted that he could not understand how a Jew could possibly be a Communist or sympathetic to Communism. He expected the entire Jewish people to rally to his organization. They did not.

This disappointed Kohlberg but until the moment he died, he continued to finance various organizations and groups in the battle against Soviet Russia.

He must have spent a fortune of money; he gave of his health and even after he had had several coronary failures, he kept his work going. He retired from his business but he never retired from the cause which he had made his life. He was a little David fighting a world of Goliaths and he fought well.

Where does the moral strength come from which transforms a merchant into a battling leader of men in a cause to which many devote their lives? Kohlberg reminded one of the prophets of old.

the men who feared not the mighty, who rejected power, who never considered themselves.

No great orator, no powerful writer, no organizer of movements, a man with a delightful sense of humor, whose wit led him into many arid fields, Kohlberg, with a profound sense of justice, developed an enormous and significant following of men and women, some publicly important in their own right, who turned to him for counsel and advice.

And it is one of those peculiarities of life that many who hated him as a fanatic who destroyed their short-cut to the truth, in his last years recognized the intuitive patriotism of Kohlberg.

He knew no divided loyalties. The United States was his country; he rejected affinity for any other. If he labored for Nationalist China, it was because he believed that was best for the United States.

And now Alfred Kohlberg is dead. He will no more trouble bureaucrats with his investigations or his wit. He, who burst the blubber of many puffed up officials, is no more to plague them. But what Kohlberg stated will never die. It caught the fancy of many younger men and women that truth is not a talisman and courage is not a sin.

A Reporter's Report to the People

Att'n donors to the Runyon Cancer Fund (which never deducts a cent for expenses of any kind from your donations):

An American Cancer Society executive has misinformed his assistants around the nation regarding the recent expose in Look magazine (entitled "Where Does Your Charity Dollar Go?") . . . This executive tried to tear down the Runyon Cancer Fund by saying that when the Fund started the American Cancer Society paid its expenses. The Runyon Cancer Fund never had any expenses to pay! . . . None of the celebs that make up the Runyon Cancer Fund are paid. A few young ladies and a man who directs the office get salaries. The rent for the Runyon office on 5th Avenue, the salaries, the light, heat, water, stamps, etc., are paid by the Walter Winchell Foundation and some of its generous friends . . . What this embarrassed ACS spokesman omits is that during the Runyon Fund's infancy I (as Founder and Treasurer) gave the ACS every penny of the money you entrusted to me—the sum of $2,220,000—for cancer research. I gave them the money because I knew the ACS was the Giant of the cancer money promoters and that the Runyon Fund was then a very little baby . . . But in the first few years when I gave the ACS your $2,220,000 to fight the No. 2 killer, I found out how much they spend on themselves—instead of on you—for furniture, stamps and the other things they need. This is why I stopped giving your money to them.

The March 15th, 1960 Look magazine article (which saluted the Runyon Cancer Fund for being the only fund-raiser that gave your entire dollar to research and doctors) includes this eyebrow-raising report: "One charity lot takes about 40% (around $289,000) for salaries. Another is a chapter of The American Cancer Society. It's National Headquarters gets half the local take. Out of the chapter's half, over $300,000 (or some 55 percent of the total) went for wages" . . . See?

Recklessly, contemptuously, foolishly—some Hollywood stars, directors and producers have hired convicted Red writers. It seems incredible to suggest that films cannot be created without a handful of Communist scribbles. Otto Preminger, Stanley Kramer—who have put Communists on their payrolls—have taken hold stands in favor of artistic integrity. In addition, they have unanimously contended that Communist writers will not taint their films with the slightest touch of Red propaganda. The other day, director William Wyler flatly stated: "No Communist infiltration ever got through to the screen from any picture ever made in Hollywood. The control of a picture lies with the producer and the studio. Has anyone ever identified a Hollywood picture in which Communist propaganda was found?" . . . The naïveté of the Kramers, Premingers and Wylers is on a par with their appalling lack of information . . . This is to refresh their memory.

Some years ago Harold J. Ashe testified before a Congressional committee. Ashe was a screen writer who had been a member of the Communist Party and then renounced it . . . A Congressional investigator asked Mr. Ashe: "What instances can you point out to the committee in which the Communists succeeded in influencing the content of the film?"

Mr. Ashe replied: "I didn't come here prepared on this point. I would like to point out, however, that 'Blockade' was written by Clifford Odets. I believe; and John Howard Lawson took the credit. 'Blockade' was certainly a Communist film from start to finish. It used the situation in Spain, it is true, as a focal point for the film; but, if I had the time and resources, I could trace 'Blockade' right back to its original source; namely, one of the leading propagandists for the Soviet Union who had used the same film years ago—used the same theme. The same theme was used at a still later date by a German producer who was a Communist, and in 1938 Lawson and Odets used it again—gave it a different name, a little different treatment. The theme was exactly the same" . . . See?

Interpreting The News

Chou Visits Watched For Clues

By J. M. Roberts (AP News Analyst)

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China has given his verbal endorsement of Nikita Khrushchev's approach to the summit conference, but the proof of the pudding will lie in how he conducts himself during his visits to India, Burma and Nepal in the next few days.

Chou still sneers at the prospects for any progress on disarmament at conference where his government is ignored. Nevertheless he praises Khrushchev for what he calls the Soviet Premier's efforts to relieve East-West tensions at the summit and at the Geneva disarmament and nuclear conferences.

On the surface, then, Chou and Khrushchev have established a common front on these matters regardless of past public differences over the worthwhileness of trying to deal with the West.

Chou, however, is known to Western diplomats as one of the wildest maneuverers with whom they have ever contended. A good part of their estimate of the strength of the Peiping-Moscow axis will depend upon whether he is all sweetness and light—as Khrushchev seems to desire—in his Asiatic dealings now.

If he presses his Indian Nepalese territorial claims too hard, and makes new demands upon Burma, or if he stirs up any other Asiatic issues before the summit conference, Khrushchev will be judged to represent only the European Communists at Paris.

When Chou arrived in Burma Thursday he found things going definitely against Communism.

U Nu, chief political figure in Burma, is returning to active power after a sort of sabbatical during which he let the military clean up some Communist and other internal troubles, as well as part of the border dispute with China. U Nu is an expert walker of the political tightrope in public, but is definitely anti-Communist.

In India Prime Minister Nehru is also a middle-roader. But he shows no signs of yielding territory to Chou, and a storm might wreck his divided party if he did.

Nepal is smarting under Peiping's claim to Mt. Everest not only on the particular point but as an indication of Communism's ultimate designs.

There have been indications that Chou, under Soviet urging has agreed to try to smooth out some of these lumps in the pudding caused by Peiping's aggressiveness in order to foster the general Communist peace offensive.

The Allen-Scott Report

Change In Strategy

Washington — Sen. John Kennedy is making a significant change in his crucial West Virginia campaign.

Instead of "turning the other cheek" to attacks on his congressional voting record, as he did throughout the Wisconsin primary, Kennedy has determined to retort in kind, and "then some for good measure."

In preparation for this, he is armed with full details not only of Sen. Hubert Humphrey's stand on issues, but also of the other Democratic rivals.

Behind this sharp change in strategy are two factors: The forceful advice of West Virginia lieutenants, that a candidate who "slugs it out" has a strong appeal to voters of that rugged State; and persistent indications that Kennedy's opponents are joining forces in an effort to upset him in this potentially far-reaching primary.

Former Sen. Earle Clements, Ky., a leading backer of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, is very active behind the scenes in his behalf in West Virginia.

Working closely with Clements, now highway commissioner of adjoining Kentucky, is Sen. Robert Byrd, W. Va. He is in the forefront of a big Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Clarksburg on May 7, just three days before the primary. Sen. Johnson is the guest speaker at this statewide fundraising gathering.

Former National Chairman Frank McKinney, Ind., and William Boyle, Mo., who are leading Symington boosters, also have been in contact with

As evidence of this, partisans of the Massachusetts Senator are citing the following:

Known full-time "organizers" of Sen. Stuart Symington are traveling about West Virginia offering to help anti-Kennedy leaders and groups line up votes against him. Also, considerable Symington campaign literature is appearing there, particularly in labor quarters, although the Missouri is not running in this primary.

Attending the Clarksburg rally, two Westerners warily declined on the ground of "previous commitments."

Another is that James Rowe, one-time New Deal brain-truster and a top Humphrey strategist, is urging an "all out" fight against Kennedy in West Virginia. Rowe advised doing this to a limited extent in Wisconsin, which Humphrey did over the strenuous disapproval of other important leaders.

Foremost among them is Joseph Rauh, director of Americans for Democratic Action. He vigorously opposed Rowe's counsel in Wisconsin and is doing the same regarding West Virginia.

Also labor leaders, spearheading Sen. Robert Wayne Morse's campaign against Humphrey in the District of Columbia primary, are being asked to use their influence against Kennedy in nearby West Virginia. So far nothing has come of these overtures.

Kennedy is still undecided about having his mother and sisters campaign for him in West Virginia as they did in Wisconsin. His younger brothers, Robert and Theodore, will do so. But with the exception of Kennedy's wife, the other ladies of his family may "skip this one" — on the advice of state lieutenants.

Hold-Outs — The big unions are staging a sitdown against that $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner of the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees on April 30.

Democratic legislative chiefs had counted on labor's buying at least $100,000 of tickets. Aim of the party leaders is to raise $50,000 at this affair for fall electioneering purposes. But so far the unions have cold shouldered it.

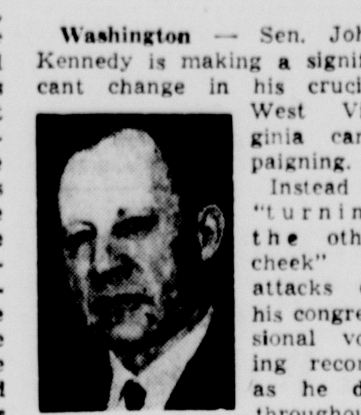

Blunt reason union chiefs are giving for not forking over is that a portion of these campaign funds will go to South-eastern. Senator George Smathers, Fla., and Representative Michael Kirwan, O., heads of the two Campaign Committees, are saying Southerners will get a "pro rata share" of this money for election expenses.

To that labor leaders are retorting, "We will contribute to individual Democratic candidates. But we are not going to give money to a fund that will go to candidates who will cut our throat after they are elected."

Around 2,000 tickets (approximately $200,000) have so far been sold for the April 30 dinner. This is far behind the anticipated sale, which was expected to be more than $300,000 at this point.

Political — District of Columbia campaign leaders for Senator Morse have employed 30 workers, at $1 an hour, to distribute literature for him. Explains A. L. Wheeler, head of both the Morse campaign and the District Democratic Central Committee, "I always hire people to hand out literature, because they are a lot more reliable than volunteers."

Senator Stuart Symington's campaign has one publicity distinction his rivals can't boast of. It's a "Youth For Symington Newsletter," published at Columbia, Mo. The masthead lists, in addition to a sizeable staff, a big National Executive Board and a National Advisory Board, headed by Representative W. R. Hull, Mo. The gloss-paper publication is being mailed throughout the country.

Procedures Reappraised At Bangor

BANGOR—A misunderstanding of the procedures at a recent meeting of the Bangor Area Joint School Committee has been indicated, and a reappraisal of the information as it affects the previously published information might be enlightening.

The matter in question affects the statements relative to the change of sending Upper Mt. Bethel pupils to the non-jointure school at East Bangor.

Some weeks ago a petition signed by 51 Upper Mt. Bethel parents, who have children presently attending the East Bangor School, was received by the Bangor Joint Committee. This requested that they continue to attend the East Bangor School, contrary to the plans of the jointure in 1960 to send children in grades one through six to the Columbus School and the seventh and eighth grades to the Bangor Area Joint High School.

Reasons Explained

Previous to the presentation of the petition to the joint committee a number of these parents had attended a meeting of the Upper Mt. Bethel Board, when the reasons for the changes being made in school program were explained to them.

At the meeting of the Bangor Joint Board last week the committee furthered its plans to place these pupils in the Columbus School. Dr. James Bruiise, chairman of the education committee pointing to the precedent already set by the East Bangor Board of sending East Bangor pupils to Pen Argyl High School regardless of parental desire declared that Upper Mt. Bethel parents would be within their rights of sending their children to East Bangor provided that they pay their own tuition and provide their own transportation.

It was indicated at the session that the Bangor jointure is now paying East Bangor some $35,000 in tuition for these pupils. Now it is felt by those who know the problem that the jointure program has much more to offer the pupils and that a full program within the confines of the joint district would better serve the children.

Teacher Survey Reveals A Bright Side Of Teen Gangs, But Problem Is Vicious

By Eugene Gilbert
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

TO MOST people the very idea of a teen-aged gang stalking school corridors in duck-tail haircuts and black leather jackets is one of the more frightening manifestations of modern society.

Movies like "The Blackboard Jungle" help underscore headlines on the subject. But, actually, how prevalent is the teen-aged gang problem in schools across the country?

Happily, the situation is nowhere near as common nor as widespread as one might think. In a national survey of nearly 900 school teachers, we found that only 5 per cent had encountered any kind of a gang problem in their schools. The survey was conducted in both large metropolitan areas and small towns and covered teachers in all grades.

On the other hand, few teachers dissented from the view that the modern teen-aged gang, where it does exist, is a far more sinister entity than the boys clubs that mushroomed in past generations.

Prevention Helps
Undoubtedly, a few ounces of prevention explained the absence of gangs in the schools of 83 per cent of the teachers interviewed. Nearly half of them had rules against wearing gangland jackets, sideburns, military belts and other outward signs of gang membership.

Were the rules helpful in controlling the problem? Yes, answered 49 per cent, compared with only 4 per cent who thought the rules did more harm than good. The rest didn't know.

"Proper dress engenders proper conduct," said teacher E. H. Martin of Scranton, Pa., in defense of the rules.

Some schools have encouraged students to adopt a voluntary code of ethics and good grooming as a deterrent to gangs. Others have laid the law down in no uncertain terms. "You have to," explained Margaret Ross of Olean, N.Y., "to keep the gang feeling out of the school."

But some teachers, like Pershing N. Meyers of Indianapolis, deemed the problem beyond the control of teachers: "Rules do not stop out-of-school activities. They never have."

No Longer Innocent
From time to time, people tend to dismiss the teen-aged gang as a modern day version of the informal, unorganized boys clubs of an earlier generation. You remember, the secret society that built the house in the backyard tree or put up a shack in an empty lot.

Questions Asked By Teen-Agers

ARE GANGS a problem in your school?

Are there rules in your school against gang-type dress?

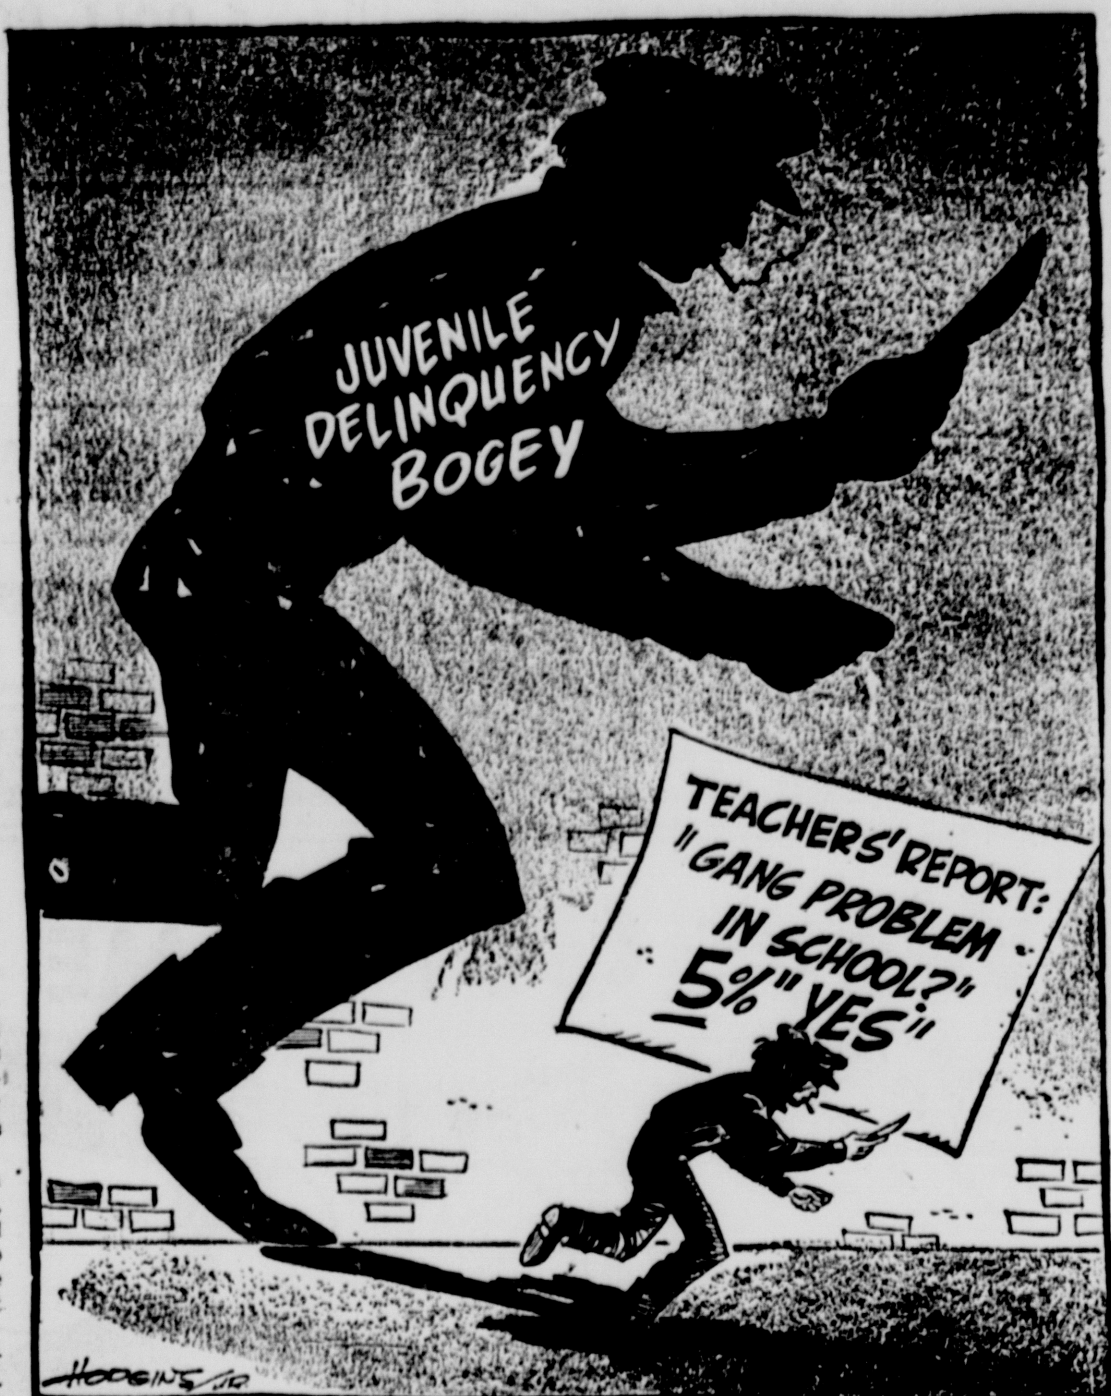

Are the rules helpful? Harmful? Neither?

If your school has gangs, what problems do they present?

How do the current organizations differ from those of a generation ago?

In what way are gangs harmful?

How do you think they can best be combatted?

Casts A Big Shadow

Are the modern gangs that innocent? How do the current organizations differ from those of a generation ago?

Here are some pointed, meaningful teacher comments:

"They're far more vicious and sadistic."—Cyrus Weckerle, Seewickley, Pa.

"They show little respect for people and public property, are motivated by too many wrong ideas."—R. E. McConnell, Indianapolis.

"They have unworthy objectives and lack guidance."—Angelo Brattice, Old Forge, Pa.

"All are not harmful, but some seem to thrill at resisting authority by destroying private and public authority."—John O. Miller, Orlando, Fla.

"They ape the 'beatniks' in rebelling against authority and conforming to their own non-conformist standards."—A. E. Blakeman, Montpelier, Vt.

"They cannot be controlled, their behavior is unpredictable."—K. E. Wright, Provo, Utah.

"Their presence prohibits development of individual thinking."—C. J. Olson, Green Bay, Wis.

"Their use of words like 'chicken' and their constant resort to dares indicates their motivation. Numbers make a coward brave."—Ralph W. Hutchins, Knoxville, Tenn.

Solutions offered by the teachers to the teen-aged gang problem ranged all the way from coddling them to clobbering them.

Here are some typical answers to the question "How do you think youth gangs can best be combatted?"

Strong Control

"Strong parental, police and school control."—Jane Fisher, Toledo, Ohio.

"By approaching them in a positive manner, making clubs out of the gangs."—LaSalle Mayes, Livonia, Mich.

Cashing Mutual Shares

By William A. Doyle
Q. My wife and I own shares of a mutual fund. We live about 500 miles from the main office of that fund. We need some money and are planning to cash in our shares. What is the proper procedure?

A. Sign the certificates in the place indicated. Have your signatures guaranteed by an official of either a bank or a brokerage firm. Write a simple letter, explaining that you want to redeem your shares. Send the certificates, the signature guarantee and the letter by registered mail to the office of either the fund or its transfer agent.

The price you receive for your shares will be the redemption price in effect at the time your shares are officially redeemed. The redemption price (also known as the "bid" price) of most mutual funds is the asset value per share. Some funds do have a small redemption charge of 0.5 percent or one percent.

Most people have their brokerage house or bank handle these details for them. But you can do it yourself.

Q. In anticipation of needing cash toward the purchase of a home, I stopped by at the office of a local brokerage firm and inquired about redeeming some of my mutual fund shares. I was informed that, because I had not purchased the shares through that particular brokerage house, it would be necessary for them to charge me a regular commission on the redemption.

A. I always thought that the only commission paid by the owner of mutual fund shares was the "load" of eight percent or so when the shares are purchased. Am I wrong?

A. No, you aren't wrong. But you are finding out things that perplex many mutual fund shareholders.

Many brokerage houses do charge when they handle the paperwork of redeeming mutual fund shares. If you were a good customer of the brokerage house, that brokerage house would have to be awfully brazen to hit you with a big charge for the chore.

However, if you never did business with that brokerage house before, you can't expect the firm to handle the details at no cost to you. It would be natural for the brokerage house to levy a service charge.

The size of the service charge might vary from one brokerage house to another. There's no reason to pay it—If you are willing to handle the redemption steps yourself, as outlined in the previous item in this column.

Q. How can I get started buying mutual fund shares if I only can invest a small amount of money at a time? Can I buy 10 shares to start with and then one to three shares each month?

A. You can buy shares of most mutual funds that way. Some do require larger purchases.

An easier way would be to open a periodical plan for the accumulation of mutual fund shares. That way you put up a fixed amount of money on a steady basis. Your money is invested in shares and fractions of shares. There are many such plans available.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

EAST STROUDSBURG Borough will begin to vigorously enforce the dog ordinance against canines running loose in that borough, it was reported yesterday.

Harold Lang, 221 S. Crystal St., has been sworn in as the dog ordinance enforcement officer, and he will, in the future, assure that all dog owners keep their dogs properly leashed and licensed.

Any dog owner caught with their dog running loose will be prosecuted, while any person owning a dog running at large with no collar or license will be subject to a fine on two counts.

Each fine is $10 and costs.

Dear Abby

Set A Good Example

Dear Abby: I know I should not write this letter but, Abby, I have to be honest with myself.

What can I do about being ashamed of my parents? Both my father and mother are fat and my mother doesn't have any idea about how to dress. I am really ashamed to have my friends meet them. Help me, Abby. I have tried to tell them in a nice way, but it is hard for a 16-year-old girl to correct her parents.

ASHAMED OF PARENTS

Dear Ashamed: You can surely tell your parents that if they trimmed off the extra poundage they would feel better and live longer. (If you can get them to a doctor for a "check-up" — HE will tell them.) As for mother's clothes: If she is style-conscious and receptive to suggestions, go shopping with her and help. If she isn't — don't worry about it. Let her wear what she wants. What your mother has "against her" won't be held against YOU.

Dear Abby: Three weeks ago a fellow I work with asked if I could lend him a five until pay day. I gave it to him and nothing has been said about it since. Do you think he has forgotten?

SOFT TOUCH

Fraternity Of Masons Honor Bender

NORMAN O. BENDER, of Stroudsburg, a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, will be honored at a testimonial dinner to be given next Monday at 7 p.m. at Merry Hill Lodge, Paradise Valley.

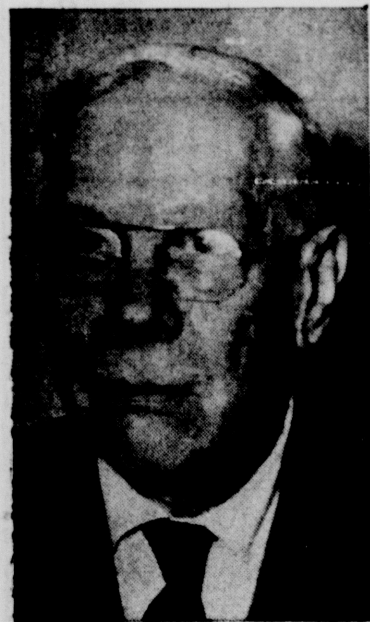

The affair is being given by the Pocono Shrine Club. It will mark Bender's 50th anniversary as a member of Irem Temple Shrine.

All members of the Irem Temple divan, headed by illustrious Potentate H. Monroe Houtz, are planning to attend the dinner and several will take part in the program.

Remarks will be offered by four men who have been associated with the honored guest during various phases of his career.

To Review Life

Judge Fred W. Davis will review Bender's role as a citizen; George W. Robinson will tell of his long-time membership in the Masons; John F. Hill will speak on his 47-year career as an employee of The Daily Record, and Earl F. Groner will recount his 30 years as a member of the Stroudsburg School Board. Ralph Barnes, Shrine Club president, will serve as toastmaster.

Norman O. Bender

Bender is a member and past master of Barger Lodge 325, F and AM, having received a 50-year recognition award from the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania in 1958. Next to Dr. Charles Flagler, he is the oldest living past master of the local lodge.

Other Affiliations

His other Masonic affiliations include both the Samuel H. Yohe Commandery 81, where he served as commander and as recorder for many years, and Monroe Royal Arch Chapter 281, where he is a high priest. He will receive a 50-year citation in the latter organization in May.

All Shriner and Blue Lodge Masons are invited to attend the dinner. Reservations may be made by contacting J. Nelson Westbrook at HA 1-7290.

Alaska, largest among the states, produces platinum, gold, coal, antimony, silver, mercury, tungsten and chromium. It also supplies all domestically mined U.S. tin.

him time and he will.

Dear Abby: You had a letter in your column from a secretary who complained because her boss expected her to dust his desk and the filing cabinets. I clipped this piece from a set of office rules. They were in effect in a Carriage and Wagon Works, in 1872.

"Employees shall daily sweep the floors, fill lamps, clean chimneys, whittle pen nibs to individual taste, take off one night a week for cutting, and if they are thirty, faithful, faultless, attentive to religious duties, and stay out of jail, they will be given an increase of five cents per day after five years. That is if profits justify it."

S.H.J.

Dear Abby: I have been a widower for four years. I met a fine respectable widow and we plan to be married in the near future. My children are married. They have met this woman and like her very much.

When I invited my children to the small dignified marriage ceremony we plan to have, they refused saying it was not "proper" for them to attend. Are they correct? Or am I wrong for feeling slighted by their attitude?

EMBARRASSED FATHER

Dear Embarrassed: It is not considered "improper" for children to attend the marriage ceremony of a widower-father who has chosen to remarry. But your children probably have "mixed emotions"—which are understandable. So excuse them, and don't feel even slightly slighted.

Dear Abby: After reading the letter from Gossip Hater, I want to put in my nickel's worth:

When I married Pete (not his real name) his whole family hated me because Pete was the family bread-winner, and they all had to go to work to support themselves.

They tried everything to get him back. His sister started the dirtiest rumor about me, and it went through the town like wild fire. With God's help and my prayers, I am still trying to live it down. But don't think for a minute that plenty of people aren't ready to believe everything they hear. And the dirtier the gossip is, the quicker they believe it.

ANOTHER GOSSIP HATER

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Every Teen-Ager Wants To Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

Art Exhibition Features The Beautiful, Puzzles

THE outstanding and beautiful exhibition now currently showing for the month of April, at the Art Center, comprises Gloria Shafer Randolph's paintings. This show may well be an answer to many people who enjoy the beautiful, and who may be puzzled, but are a little disconcerted when it comes to puzzling over modern abstract art.

So considered, the exhibition is more than just a display of Mrs. Randolph's paintings, in that it consists of a presentation of an active development from static beauty and literal representation of a freer, deeper, more challenging approach to the feelings, which so often springs up in all of us, in reaction to visual loveliness or beauty, in flowers or landscape.

Incidentally, abstraction is also found and enriching than an express an experience or a feeling, which to many is more profound and enriching than an imitation of some portion of natural phenomena.

Supplanting the secure feeling of seeing in a painting, just what one has always enjoyed, now a new vista may be disclosed, and one may see and feel in a wider and deeper range.

Naturally all paintings do not necessarily speak to all viewers, though the work of the artist may be valid.

As in many fields (reading for one) there are personal choices to be made avoiding the extreme attitudes between blanket condemnation and indiscriminate acceptance.

This exhibition opens with a very real view, an autumn scene. There is a marching line of trees toward darkly brooding hills, while above cloud formations are reminiscent of summer.

Even the frame characterizes this literal objective painting. Next we may see a sunflower, but here is one step toward an interpretation with its lovely green variations, true and interesting.

Quite challenging beyond, the golden "Light in the Wilderness" is a rich tapestry in which one finds no object as a subject. There was much appreciation of the large simple forms shown in a big grey and white canvas of stones and snow. The free shapes are a real innovation, perhaps a bow to the constructionists.

These may, in their originality be the beginning of a departure in exposition.

Not only is Gloria Shafer Randolph to be congratulated on so original vital and attractive an achievement in painting, but the community also in having a local citizen of such native ability and polished accomplishment in

2nd Unit Started For MECO Plant

WITH J. H. BEERS, INC., of Bangor RD 2, excavating for a foundation, work has been started by Metropolitan Edison Company on the construction of a $44,000,000 addition to its Portland Generating Station, which will substantially increase the amount of electricity available to the Middle Delaware Valley.

The addition, which will house the second unit in a station designed to eventually produce one million kilowatts, will be added to the up-stream side of the first unit which was completed only 16 months ago at a cost of $31,000,000. Unit No. 2 is scheduled for completion late in 1962 and will add 230,000 kilowatts to the 154,000 kilowatts now being produced by the initial unit. Together they will be capable of powering more than 510,000 one-horsepower motors at one time or heating 125,000 homes electrically.

This Portland project will not only increase the power supply available to all MECO customers in 14 Eastern Pennsylvania counties, but it also will give a boost to the local economy. O. Titus, MECO president, said in announcing that local concerns will be awarded as much of the construction work as possible.

J. H. Beers, Inc., holds a sub-contract from the Maxon Construction Company, Inc., to excavate approximately 69,500 cubic yards of material for the main building foundation and another 20,000 cubic yards for a screen house. Other contracts have been awarded to the following: steelwork to Lehigh Structural Steel Company of Allentown; condensers and boiler feed pumps to the Ingersoll-Rand Company, Phillipsburg; and miscellaneous pumps to the Pennsylvania Pump and Compressor Company, Easton.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

There was some hasty scrambling around before the church services last night as the whole family revised their plans about what they were going to wear. A jump of 50 degrees is a little sudden to take in a wool suit.

Fortunately, the new communicants — who are the ones who really matter — usually want to look like Spring itself, even with snow on the ground, so they were all set. As for the rest of us, there was some evidence of summer dresses dragged out of storage without too much time for pressing.

The men, by and large, sweated in winter suits since obviously there wasn't time to press the whole family. But — hot or crumpled or both — you looked fine. The churches were crowded but somehow it still stayed a family service.

Easter Sunday crowds will be grander—brighter of plumage and bedecked with corages. The organ will roll more thunderously, the choir sing a more triumphant chorus. There will be glory and honor, majesty and power.

But somehow without the feeling of family familiarity about the Lord's Supper on Thursday night; without the grave — almost shabby — hours of meditation on Friday afternoon, Easter itself wouldn't shine in this glory.

Just the same, it's well for most of us that there's a Saturday in between. Mortals that we are, we need to descend to the prosaic — to dyeing eggs and running the vacuum cleaner and replenishing the larder, for, with Peter, we find it difficult to watch with Him for even one hour.

Committees Are Named By Woman's Club

Bangor — Committees were appointed by Mrs. Dorothy Halliday, president, at the meeting of the Senior Woman's Club in the club rooms at the public library building Monday afternoon.

Miss Romelda Staples, Miss Lucy Miller and Mrs. Charles Raph were assigned to the auditing committee. Mrs. Urbanus Johnson, Mrs. Leonard DeCesare, Mrs. Charles Hower, Mrs. Woodrow Reimer, Mrs. William Lange, Mrs. John Arns and Mrs. Edmund Turzto were named to arrange for the annual garden party in June.

Mrs. Burton Rader and Mrs. Charles Weidman reported on the recent county meeting. It was announced that the Nazareth club will present a comedy at the next meeting Monday, April 25, at 8 p.m. Members of the Pen Argil and Portland clubs will be guests. Mrs. E. S. Rosenberry heads the hostess group.

Yesterday's program featured a religious drama, "The Challenge of the Cross," which was written by Dr. Charles Marsh, one-time national president of the Forensic Honor Society. The founder of departments of speech at three colleges in Iowa and one of the ablest debate coaches in the nation, this drama of his was translated into several languages. There were 100,000 copies of it printed.

Mrs. Rosenberry announced the program, given by the club's drama group. Mrs. Margaret Remegen was the guest soloist. Miss Lella Flory was the accompanist. Mrs. Hazel Walton directed the choir comprised of Mrs. Charles Steinmetz, Mrs. George Wolfe, Mrs. Elizabeth Mae Hartung, Mrs. Harry Stoddard and Mrs. Vernon Hester. Mrs. Hower was the accompanist.

Speaking roles were held by Mrs. Johnson, angel; and Mrs. Robert Youtton, Mrs. Luther Ackerman, Mrs. Weidman, Mrs. Rader, Mrs. Glenn Grigg and Mrs. Halliday, disciples.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Foulton, Mrs. Abraham Sandler, Mrs. George Parry, Mrs. Clark Morey, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. George Gruver, Mrs. David Stoddard and Mrs. Weidman. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Weidman poured.

Easter Bunny Loses Head At Brownie Play

Newfoundland — An Easter Bunny who kept losing her head; a visiting troop grandmother; and an egg hunt added to the excitement of the holiday celebration of Brownie Troop Two during its meeting at Southern Wayne Joint School. Mrs. Emil Wohlfart was in charge.

Maneuvering her costume's heavy ears proved to be quite a job for Peggy Tobey, who was the Easter Bunny during the youngest patrol's play presented under the direction of Ruthann Fetherman. Sherri-Lynn Crounse was the bunny for the "middle-aged" group in their play given under the leadership of Phyllis Cron.

The oldest patrol gave a paper bag puppet show with the assistance of Mrs. Clayton Northup. Patsy Woltjen was the troop bunny.

The troop's adopted grandmother, Mrs. Lily Noble, of Panther, paid a surprise visit. The girls presented her with an Easter lily and a box of candy, and each introduced herself.

Practical Nurse Program Explained To Bangor Club

Bangor — Miss Helen Morris, coordinator of the practical nurse training program in the Bethlehem School District, one of 21 programs of this type in the state, was the speaker at the meeting of the Future Nurse Club of Bangor Area Joint High School at the school Monday afternoon.

The program is designed to provide the professional nurse with adequately trained assistants, not to replace her. The ages range from 18 to 55 but trainees under 25 must have a high school diploma. One is the length of the training period. Prior to acceptance, there is an aptitude test and an interview by the state employment department. A physical examination also is compulsory.

The first 18 weeks of instruction are academic, including basic nursing skills, anatomy, conditions of illness, nutrition and family living. Also community hygiene, personal and vocational relationships and diversional activities are emphasized. The final 32 weeks of clinical service are completed at St. Luke's Hospital. Graduates must pass the state board's practical nurse examination.

Miss Morris pointed out that the first class was graduated last October. All 23 graduates are working at St. Luke's Hospital. The salary is two-thirds that of the professional nurse, with the student paid $50 per month while performing clinical work. The student pays only for personal needs. Tuition, books, etc., are taken care of by the school district and state.

Kathleen Cascioli, president, was in charge. Patricia Shubick, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Miss Marie L. Engler, R.N., the club's adviser, also was present.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"The friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Wouldn't you know it? First day back to work I busied myself around the house until the very last minute, and rushed off without a belt. This might not have been too noticeable, except that I've lost a lot of weight and my black crepe could have been taken in a good two inches. It hung on me like a potato sack.

This made a wonderful excuse to rush over to our dress department and see just what was available in new Spring fashions, suitable for wear at work, that wouldn't break the bank. First dress I tried on was a 9.98 linen weave of black rayon, with a high, jewel neckline, and shiny black buttons down the front. It fit perfectly... so I returned to my desk with my old dress in a box. Another excellent buy from Mardee Albert's department is a two-piece suit of navy with bloused jacket. Wonderful for now, it can be worn through the Fall with a blouse, and throughout the Winter as a 2-piece dress. The price—a conservative 25.00.

My first day back was a day of telephone calls and personal visits. Edith Jacobson, radio chairman for the Hadassah Fashion Show on Wednesday evening, June 22, at Tamiment, stopped by to set up a schedule of broadcasts. At the moment, Christians and Hebrews are united once again in observance of two very important seasons: those of Easter and the Passover—times when all of us might pause to do some serious thinking, and to humble ourselves in gratitude for the rewards of faith.

Margaret MacLaren, the Monroe County extension bureau's home economist, dropped in to tell me about a showing of Simplicity fashions for the 4-H girl, to be presented in our store for 4-H members, their mothers, all others studying sewing in the schools, and their teachers, Monday evening, April 25th. Walter Wyckoff is opening the store's second floor as a special accommodation to these young women, and students from various parts of the county will be models. Margaret has asked me to present the commentary, and my own pre-teen daughter has already announced her intentions of attending. If you enjoy sewing, plan to join us. You'll enjoy it, I'm sure.

Now there's a considerable gal!—meaning Margaret Hunter, head of our Wyckoff personnel department. There I was in our drapery department, purchasing cafe curtains for my bathroom, when Margaret approached to hand me TEN DOLLARS. "You shouldn't have done it," I commented, and she replied, "I didn't. This is the bonus Mr. Wyckoff announced yesterday over the loud-speaker." So I handed the ten dollars over to Dick Kishpaugh, took my change and walked away.

I am grateful to Mr. Wyckoff for the gift, as are all the other employees... but there's a certain occupational hazard connected with working in a department store. Your pay check and bonuses somehow remain right HERE!

Wonder if there's a shortage of advertising people in New York? From a big agency, I received a letter saying, "Dear Mrs. Maloney... some time ago you filed an application with us. There are now a number of vacancies which may interest you, and we would be grateful if you would bring us up to date on your experience, salary, and wage requirements to move out of your established area. An immediate reply is urged."

So help me, I never heard of the agency before, and certainly never applied for a job with them. Apparently there's no unemployment problem in the advertising field!

S-Burg Presbyterian Is Against Gambling Steelhead Trout Testing

THE SESSION of the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg met on Wednesday evening to discuss the issue of race track betting in Monroe County.

After considering the issue carefully and its various economic, moral and sociological implications, the Elders of the Church took the following action: "Historically and with good cause the Church of Jesus Christ has opposed gambling and its inevitable companions, moral decay and civic decline. Therefore, be it resolved that the Session of the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg opposes the proposition to legalize race track gambling with pari-mutuel betting in Monroe County and urges the members of its congregation to vote and to vote "No" at the primary election, April 26."

Lancaster Cattle

LANCASTER (AP) — USDA — Cattle 350; good grade feeder steers 25.00-27.75; good grade slaughter steers 27.50. Calves, hogs, sheep, not enough to establish a market.

Ray WILLIAMS, fish commissioner from Bangor, is exerting the rights that go along with his position to start experiments of planting steelhead trout in the Delaware and Lehigh Rivers.

Williams is having Dr. Al Hazard, of the State Fish Commission staff, look into the possibilities of: 1. securing fertilized eggs; 2. raising them to fingerling size before liberation.

Steelhead trout, a member of the Rainbow family, provide some of the finest fresh water fishing on the west coast. They hatch, go to sea and return to their place of birth for spawning.

"There are many questions to be answered before this problem is solved but it is our job to find the answers," said Williams.

In Surprise Move:

Sawyer Resigns As Phils' Manager; Mauch Has Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eddie Sawyer, unfrustrated and smiling, resigned Thursday as manager of the National League's Philadelphia Phillies with the simple explanation he didn't want the job.

A "shocked" Bob Carpenter, owner-president, and a "sorry" John Quinn, general manager, promptly announced that Gene Mauch, now managing Minneapolis in the American Association, would succeed Sawyer.

Never before in major league history has any manager either quit or been fired so early in the regular season. The Phils played once, and lost, at Cincinnati Thursday night at Connie Mack Stadium against Milwaukee.

Sawyer's resignation—it was the second time he's quit as Phils' manager during a season—and the naming of the 34-year-old Mauch was disclosed at a hastily-called news conference.

Sawyer's quitting, a surprise because it came so early, wasn't entirely unexpected. Many felt Carpenter wouldn't have waited too long to replace him.

But Mauch's hiring on a two-year contract was a surprise—the most surprising thing that ever happened to me," Mauch said when reached in Florida.

Those rumored most likely to succeed Sawyer had been third baseman Alvin Dark or Kirby Farrell, manager of the Phils' Buffalo Club in the International League.

Mauch is expected in Philadelphia Friday. Coach Andy Cohen will direct the team Thursday night.

Mauch was asleep, he said, when Quinn's telephone awakened him. He quickly accepted the post.

"I don't want to be just another big league manager," Mauch asserted. "I want to be the best big league manager in the business."

"I figure I'm on the way because there are only 15 other guys with the same job."

As to the Phils, "I don't contemplate any changes. I'm going to have to adjust to the players before they adjust to me. I'll go to them before they come to me. I wouldn't be going there if I didn't think I could help the ball club."

The 49-year-old Sawyer, who broke into organized baseball as a player in 1934 and began managing five years later, said the quit idea had "been with me the past few weeks."

He insisted, though, that difficulties with players during spring training—involving discipline and their poor showing—didn't prompt his decision. He had fired three Phils for fighting in a bar and publicly criticized the play of some team veterans. They, in turn, criticized Sawyer.

Thursday night, Sawyer said, he decided "I just didn't want to manage"—and telephoned Carpenter.

"I was shocked and so surprised," said Carpenter "that I had no argument in me."

"Eddie is a most capable baseball man and a very fine individual. He has done wonderful work for us in the past."

ONCE MORE FOR SUGAR—Training for his comeback attempt against Paul Pender of Boston, Sugar Ray Robinson works out in a New York gym. Robbie lost his middleweight title (recognized only in New York and Massachusetts) to Pender several months ago. The return go is set for April 29 in Boston.

Stroudsburg Little League Registration Date Is Set

REGISTRATION FOR the Stroudsburg Little League was set for Saturday, April 23, at a meeting last night in the YMCA. Boys who have not played previously, nor registered for tryouts are required to register between 10 a.m. and noon at the Y.

In order to be eligible, boys must be between eight and 12 years of age. A boy is not eligible who will have his 13th birthday prior to Aug. 1 of this year.

Tryout dates for recruits are April 25 through April 28. Eight and nine year olds will try out Monday, April 25, and Wednesday, April 27. Ten, 11 and 12 year olds will have tryouts Tuesday, April 26, and Thursday, April 28, for tryouts.

Tuesday, May 3, will be player bidding night for managers and Bill Hawn, player agent. The session will be at the YMCA.

Opening date will be Saturday, May 21, starting with a parade from the Penn-Stroud Hotel to the Little League field on W. Main St.

The next meeting of officers and managers will be held Thursday, May 19.

Miteff Meets Warner Friday

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Alex Miteff, a sturdy Argentine who is ranked No. 8 among the heavyweight contenders, meets 20-year-old Don Warner of Philadelphia Friday night at Convention Hall.

Miteff was signed last week as a substitute for Eddie Machen when Machen had to withdraw because of his mother's illness.

The 10-round match, scheduled for 10 p.m. (EST), will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television.

Elliott's Old 1,500 Meter Record Still Tops Today

LONDON (AP)—Herb Elliott's time of 3 minutes, 36 seconds for the 1,500 meters was included among 37 world track and field records recognized Thursday by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

The 22-year-old Australian, who holds the world mile record of 3:54.5, set the 1,500-meter mark Aug. 28, 1958 at Gotesborg, Sweden. He is rated the early favorite to win the 1,500-meter title in the Olympic games next August in Rome.

The 37 records announced by the IAAF at its London headquarters included 23 men's and 14 women's marks. Russia had 19 new records, the United States 8 and Australia 4.

Parry O'Brien's shot put of 63 feet, 4 inches, made at Albuquerque, N. M., last Aug. 1, became an official world record. Dallas Long's toss of 63-2 March 28, 1959, also was approved but it was topped, of course, by O'Brien's effort. O'Brien's official record already has been bettered. O'Brien has done 63-5, Long 63-10 and Bill Nieder, former Kansas athlete now in the Army, has a toss of 63-7.

Law Blanks Cincy 13-0 In Opener

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Vernon Law, backed by the lusty hitting of his Pittsburgh teammates, blanked Cincinnati 13-0 on 7 hits Thursday in the season's opener at Forbes Field.

The Pirates blasted five Cincinnati hurlers for 11 hits, 7 of them extra base blows, including a two-run homer by Billy Mazaroski.

Roberto Clemente led the Pirates onslaught with a pair of doubles and a single to drive in five runs.

Mazaroski drove in four runs, accounting for two on his long homer in the second inning and two more with a double in the fifth.

Cal McLish, who had a 19-8 record with Cleveland last year, lasted only 2 2/3 innings in his first starting assignment for the Reds.

Law, the Pirates' top winner in 1959 with a 18-9 record, struck out two and didn't walk a man.

Only one Reddie reached third base. He was Billy Martin who led off the third with a double and advanced on an outfield fly.

Law then struck out McLish and got Roy McMillan on a fly ball.

Wood Wins Greensboro Open Title

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Thorne Wood, a lean left-handed professional from nearby Asheboro, put together a pair of 36s Thursday for a 5-under-par 66 and a 1-stroke lead in the first round of the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Wood won the Carolinas PGA title two years ago, was one shot ahead of Len Woodward, 27-year-old Sydney, Australia, pro and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., last year's winner here.

Woodward blazed home in 31—the day's best nine-hole score—after a 1-over-par 36 front nine.

Finsterwald had nines of 34-33 against par of 35-36 for the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course.

Alone in fourth place with a 68 was Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., seeking his seventh Greensboro victory since 1938 when he won the inaugural.

Bob Goahly, Crystal River, Fla., was fifth with a 69, thanks to a finishing 32.

In all, 10 men broke par and 10 others equalled it in a field of 128 on a course still recovering from 24 inches of snow that fell last month.

The Canada Cup follows the U.S. open at Denver June 15-18 and precedes the 100th anniversary British Open at St. Andrews July 4-9.

Michigan State's 1960 football opener will have the Spartans playing in Pittsburgh on Sept. 24.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Rookie Mike de La Hoz Jade goodbye to Cleveland Thursday as the key man in a 5-1 exhibition victory over Boston. The game was marked by the first base debut of the Red Sox Bobby Thomson.

In the first inning, de La Hoz, assigned before the game to Mobile, walked, stole second and third and scored on Tito Francona's fielder's choice grounder.

De La Hoz singled in the third to touch off a two-run burst and in the fifth he singled in the midst of another scoring frame.

Thomson played the last five innings at first base using a fielder's glove. He had no difficult chances but did get signals crossed with pitcher Bill Monbouquette on a bunt play that could have wiped out Thomson, the base runner and the first base umpire all in one throw.

Phillies Win In Ten Long Innings, 5-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, who made Manager Eddie Sawyer so tired of baseball he quit, defeated the Milwaukee Braves 5-4 in their home opener Thursday night on shortstop Joe Koppe's 10th inning run-scoring single.

Acting Manager Andy Cohen won a battle of strategy with Milwaukee's presiding genius, Charley Dressen, in the Phillies' winning 10th, and may go down as baseball's only unbeaten manager since he'll be relieved by new skipper Gene Mauch Friday.

Outfielder Bobby Del Greco, whose weak bat has kept him from making the major leagues in four previous tries, walked to open the extra inning. Del Greco, whose home run helped bring the Phillies from behind in the sixth, stole second. Catcher Jim Coker filed out.

Cohen sent Ted Lepcio, right-hand hitter to bat for pitcher Don Cardwell against southpaw reliever Juan Pizarro. Dressen countered with pitcher Bob Giggie, a right-hander, and Cohen then subbed John Callison, a left-hand swinger for Lepcio. Callison was walked intentionally. Koppe, who had struck out three previous times and was hitless, singled off shortstop Johnny Logan's glove scoring Del Greco with the win.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Milt Pappas, Baltimore right-hander, overpowered the Kansas City Athletics with a 3-hitter today and the Orioles scored a 3-0 exhibition victory.

Pappas became the first Baltimore pitcher to go the route this spring.

The Orioles tagged Bud Daley for two runs in the second inning on consecutive doubles by Brooks Robinson, Willie Tshy and Ron Hansen. Bob Boyd homered against Don Larsen in the eighth to conclude the scoring.

Baltimore 020 010—3 9 0 Kansas City 000 000—0 3 1 Pappas and Triandos; Daley, Larsen (5) and Foles, L—Daley. Home run—Baltimore, Boyd.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics sold utility fielder Joe Morgan to Louisville of the American Assn. Thursday, trimming their roster to the 28-player limit. The price was not disclosed.

For Stanley Cup:

Montreal Takes Seventh Hockey Champion Title

TORONTO (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens wrapped up an unprecedented fifth straight National Hockey League Stanley Cup Thursday night by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0 for an eight-game sweep of their two playoff series. The Canadiens became the second team in NHL history to make a sweep of the playoff series. Detroit did it in 1952. Montreal first eliminated Chicago 4-0 with Jacques Plante, the league's No. 1 goalie, turning in two shutouts, and then beat Toronto 4-2, 2-1, and 5-2 before Thursday night's clincher.

Jean Beliveau led the Montreal attack with two goals. He sent the league champions off in front at 8:16 of the first period and scored the final goal at 1:21 of the last session.

In between, Doug Harvey scored at 8:45 of the opener and Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard came through at 16:40 of the second when he flicked the puck past Toronto goalie Johnny Bower after passes by brother Maurice Richard and Dickie Moore had trapped most of the Leafs down the ice.

Tigers Win Easy: 8-3

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Detroit broke a four-game losing streak Thursday with an 8-5 victory over Washington.

Scoring all their runs off Pedro Ramos, the Tigers rapped off 13 hits with Harvey Kuenn and Neil Chisley getting three each. Frank Lary went seven innings for the Tigers and gave up all the Senators runs and five hits. Hank Aguirre finished up and kept the Senators from scoring.
